Registration and Payments

To access and use StaticNode services, you must create an account, ensuring that all provided information is accurate and promptly updated as necessary. Users are responsible for maintaining the security and confidentiality of their account credentials, and sharing of account credentials with third parties is prohibited. In the event of unauthorized access to your account, you must notify StaticNode immediately. StaticNode is not liable for any loss or damage arising from your failure to maintain security obligations.

When setting up your account, you will be asked to provide financial information relevant to your chosen payment method, which may include credit card details or other payment service details. All payments made on our platform are processed via third-party services such as PayPal, Stripe, Google Payments, or Apple Pay. As these third-party payment processors handle all financial information according to their own terms of service, which you must agree to comply with, StaticNode does not process or retain any financial information directly.

Users must ensure that their use of StaticNode services adheres to all legal and regulatory requirements and does not negatively impact the operation of our network or other users. This includes refraining from sending unauthorized advertisements or engaging in any behavior that might be deemed disruptive or offensive. Failure to comply with these usage standards may result in immediate suspension or termination of your account.

StaticNode offers refunds under specific conditions. A refund request must be submitted within 48 hours of the transaction to be considered. Refunds may be denied if there is evidence of failure to understand the limitations of the services purchased, or if there is a pattern of behavior that suggests an attempt to exploit the refund policy, such as frequent cancellations. At its discretion, StaticNode may issue refunds in the form of store credit and reserves the right to determine the eligibility of services for refunds, handling each request on a case-by-case basis.

All invoices must be paid in full by the stated due date. If payment is not received by the due date, a Late Fee will be assessed one (1) day after the due date. The Late Fee will be the greater of $2.00 or 25% of the total invoice amount. We reserve the right to suspend or terminate services if any invoice remains unpaid beyond the due date.

Communication and Email Tracking

StaticNode tracks the delivery status of critical emails related to invoicing and payment confirmations to ensure accountability and prevent disputes regarding the receipt of communications. This measure is crucial for maintaining transparent and reliable communication channels between StaticNode and its users. Additionally, StaticNode will send mandatory communications to users, including service updates, payment confirmations, and security alerts. These communications are integral to the provision of our services and are necessary for the continuous operation and security of user accounts and services. Such communications are not subject to user opt-out, ensuring that all users receive vital information that may affect their service or account status.
